

READINESS REINFORCED: PREVENTION WORKFORCE LEADERSHIP IMPACTS

EMPOWERING LEADERS, STRENGTHENING FORCES

The Integrated Primary Prevention Workforce (IPPW) works to mitigate risks and promote health and well-being among service members. Through proactive activities, programs, and policies that affect multiple risk and protective factors, the IPPW prevents harmful behaviors (e.g., sexual assault, harassment, retaliation, domestic abuse, child abuse, and suicide). IPPW ensures that units remain resilient and mission-ready by working with leaders to foster a stable and healthy Force.

KEY AREAS OF LEADERSHIP SUPPORT

DATA COLLECTION & PREVENTION RESEARCH

Harnessing the power of data, IPPW personnel provide leaders with the tools to identify the factors that support and detract from readiness at the individual, interpersonal, and organizational levels and the knowledge of how to act on findings.

SPECIALIZED SUPPORT & EXPERT GUIDANCE

IPPW professionals provide leaders with targeted support, leveraging data insights to implement changes or activities that meet identified needs. Utilizing findings from Command Climate Assessments \(CCA\), leaders can strategically address their units/installations' unique needs and bolster their strengths.

INTEGRATED PREVENTION ACTIVITY IMPLEMENTATION

By leveraging the latest research findings and best practices, IPPW professionals ensure that prevention efforts are evidence-based and implemented by skilled professionals who possess the expertise to translate scientific findings into data-informed actions across the social ecology.

CONTINUOUS EVALUATION & IMPROVEMENT

IPPW professionals develop Comprehensive Integrated Primary Prevention Plans to identify opportunities to maximize prevention efforts by aligning with organizational goals and best practices. After implementation, IPPW rigorously evaluate prevention activities to drive continuous improvement.

SUSTAINED COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIPS

Through strategic community partnerships, IPPW personnel collaborate with stakeholders, including local and state resources, to achieve common goals, leveraging collective resources and expertise. By fostering strong relationships and aligning efforts across communities, IPPW identifies and addresses shared impacts collectively.
